Hsiao Ch'ien Now Literary Editor of the Ta Kung Pao

Mr. Hsiao Ch'ien, who was graduated last year with a major in journalism, will become editor of the literary supplement of the Ta Kung Pao on March 1, when that paper starts its projected new Shanghai edition. The supplement as other features will appear in both the Shanghai and Tientsin editions of the paper. Mr. Hsiao since his graduation has been responsible for the literary section of the daily issue.

He will leave Tientsin next week for Shanghai with several stop-overs en route to confer with regular contributors. His address and that of the Ta Kung Pao in Shanghai will be 181 Ave. Edward VII. The course in journalism in the Provincial Women's College, Tientsin, which Mr. Hsiao has been teaching, will be taken over by Mr. Kao Ching-hsiao, '32, who is editor of the educational supplement of the Tientsin I Shih Pao.

Two Yenchinians Contribute to First Chinese Year Book

The Commercial Press has recently issued under the general editorship of Kwei Chung-shu the first Chinese Year Book entirely under Chinese auspices and with national authors only. Most of the writers are officials connected in various capacities with the Nanking government or with official agencies. Among the few exceptions are two Yenchinians. Mr. Ku Chieh-kang contributed the introductory chapter on historical background, and Dr. T. T. Lew is the author of the section on Christian work in China under Protestant auspices.

Miss Boynton Lectures in Tientsin

Miss Grace L. Boynton lectured before the Tientsin Women's Club Wednesday. Her subject was "James Joyce's 'Ulysses'". She was the guest for lunch at the Chung Yuan Restaurant of Mr. Hsiao Ch'ien, '35. Among the other guests was Mr. Ch'en Hung, '35, who has just returned from a trip to Japan.

South Compound Dinner Monday

The February dinner of residents of the Yen Nan Yuan will be held next Monday night at House 52, the home of Dean and Mrs. S. D. Wilson.

Five-Univ. League Resumes Activities ; Yenta, Tsinghua Friendly Enemies Tomorrow

A tussle between Yenching and Isinghua tomorrow afternoon will feature the resumption of the Five-U League Games, which have been suspended since the recent student movement. The games will be staged on our homegrounds starting at 2:00 o'clock, and the events will consist as usual of men's basketball and football.

By virtue of its repeated victories in the previous games against other universities except the invincible Shihta, the Yenta basketball quintet is sure to take second place, while the footballers, although having escaped from the cellar position, will at most attain third place. The coeds are still at the top of the list.

Mr. Price, varsity basketball coach, has been drilling his boys well lately. After the varsity game. Tsinghua freshman team will challenge Yenching freshmen in basketball. There will be no women's basketball game tomorrow.

For the games in the second semester, ping-pong, or table tennis, will be an added feature. Ten students have been picked out for the ping-pong varsity team after a tryout. They include Messrs. Ts'ai Nien-su, champion of the open tournament, Chiang Ta-wei, runnerup, K'e Chia-lung, Ch'eng Shihpen, Hsu Ch'ing-feng, and Wang

Tea Receptions for Mrs. Williams

Chancellor and Mrs. C. W. Luh, with Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Liang are giving a tea reception to meet Mrs. Walter Williams at the Western Returned Students' Club Sunday afternoon. A large number of guests, chiefly Peiping educators, have been invited. The Journalism Students' Club held a "welcoming" reception for Mrs. Williams this afternoon at the President's House.

Spring Enrollment List May Reach Total of 790

Old Students and New Post-Graduates Will Increase Present Number; 760 Already Registered

About 760 students had registered by noon today, 520 men and 240 women. Not including the ten or more returning to Yenching from the P.U.M.C. and about ten old students who have applied for reentrance, the present total of 760 is already larger than the usual spring enrollment which runs between 740 and 750.

As the present registration period for students enrolled last semester does not end till Feb. 22, the first day for examinations, and as old students and new post-graduates do not register till about a week following, the total list for next semester may reach 790 or more.

Students registering late are fined $3 for the first week, and $5 the second week. Deferred payments are not susceptible to fines, as was incorrectly stated in the last issue of the News.

Mrs. T. T. Lew Elected Head Peiping Chapter Eastern Star

Mrs T. T. Lew was installed last Wednesday night as Worthy Matron of International Chapter Number One, Order of the Eastern Star, in Peiping. Mrs. F. Haun, most worthy grand matron of the general grand chapter, and Mr. Iva M. Adams, past worthy grand matron of the grand chapter of Louisana, who are at present visiting in Peiping, participated in the ceremony. These distinguished guests and a considerable number of friends from Peiping, Yenching and Tsinghua were entertained at lunch by Dr. and Mrs. Lew Wednesday in their home here.

Mr. L. C. Cheng Has Kala-azar.

Mr. Cheng Lin-chuang, in structor in the department of economics, entered the P.U.M.C' early this month to remain there during February for a course of treatments required for kala-azar. He is believed to have had it for a considerable period, though not so diagnosed at first, and hence his progress is rather slow. He is able to receive visitors.

The Annotator

Certain German theologians have popularized the term "the theology of crisis". and now we are fated to do a great deal of thinking in China about "crisis education." I for one expect to observe and to participate in the discussions with the keenest of interest.

The Present Always an "Emergency"

My interest arises chiefly from a general conviction that it could be said of every people, as Frederick P. Kepell, president of the Carnegie Corporation, has recently remarked concerning Americans, that they "have a right to ask whether the income from their investment in ducation is satisfactory, measured in benefit to the individual and to society as a whole." From that more permanent point of view, I am heartily in favor of a continuous reappraisal of education of all grades everywhere.

But I am skeptical of the practical values of educational processes set up hurriedly just to meet a particular emergency or crisis. Whatever is good and desirable for the coming year is the "great learning" which should be given continuously in any institution worthy of the name of university. We shall have crises of one sort or another every year of our lives. Eve doubtless said to Adam as they were leaving the Garden of Eden, "This is an age of transition."

No Royal Road to Learning

It seems to me desirable at all times that the content of any course shall be closely related to concrete situations, if such a method is at all possible. But such pedagogy seems to me to be either out of the question for certain courses or intolerably wasteful of time. In many others, students will be totally incapable of knowing what "it is all about" until they have thoroughly mastered foundational material. And it is precisely that introductory basic presentation in many fields which may seem to many to be "dead education" because it cannot be related specifically to current events. Practical physics is built upon theories and would be on shifting sands without them. Application in other fields, as in science, must follow mastery of principles.

From some things which have been said, there would seem to be some grounds for apprehension that certain students are after quick and facile education, which will turn out, as always, to be an inadequate and superficial smattering. In an interview with a correspondent of the New York Times, published in that paper Dec. 29, Dr. Hu Shih is reported as saying: "When the youths of a nation become politically self-conscious, they always want short-cuts and are not willing to try less spectacular reforms."

What About Historical Courses?

As a teacher of one such course, I have been wondering about student attitude toward instruction which is necessary if we are to understand why we are doing what we are doing today. And it cannot be too often stressed that we need wisdom even more than we need knowledge. As one of the results of the most serious crisis which America has ever been compelled to face, one finds Harvard seeking and obtaining endowments for what might be called professorships of integration or synthesis.

For keeping a sense of balance, nothing seems more vital to me than a realization that the die will not be irrevocably cast this week, this month, this year, or even this decade. This is not to discount the seriousness of any particular juncture. It does mean to say that it is unwise to handicap onesself for the rest of one's life by yielding to impatient eagerness for immediate service. The emergency has doubtless brought to pass the development for which I have always been a proponent, namely joint studentfaculty consultation over the content and method of courses, and I shall await with hopeful anticipation the subsequent deliberations. —V.N.

Michigan U. Professor Guest Here

Dr. and Mrs. W. Carl Rufus of Ann Arbor, Michigan, were house guests of Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Wolferz for several days last week. Dr. Rufus is professor of astronomy in the University of Michigan and chairman of the committee for the Barbour Scholarships for Oriental students there.

World Prayer Day This Sunday

The World Day of Prayer for Students will be observed this Sunday all over the world under the auspices of the World Student Christian Federation. The Federation celebrates this year the fortieth year of its founding, and different national Christian organizations affiliated with the Federation will observe Sunday as a Day of Prayer for Students.

Small Chorus Turnout

Not more than half of the regular chorus attended the rehearsals last night and a week ago. Plans for the concert, therefore, will not be made until exams are over. It is hoped, however, that the concert can take place some time around Easter Sunday, March
